The Impact of Pain

Inaugural Collaborative Acute Pain Day 28th March 2010

Supported by:

9am – 5pm, Sunday 28th March 2010 (Immediately preceding the Australian Pain Society and New Zealand Pain Society combined conference.)

Gold Coast Convention Centre, Broadbeach Queensland.

Why attend?

This is an opportunity to join forces with other disciplines and those with a chronic pain focus in order to improve our practice through discussion and cross fertilization of ideas.

This acute pain day meeting will address the need for all of us to work together in order to progress system-change in our hospitals with respect to new drugs, monitoring standards, data collection and problem solving for the vulnerable patient.

There will be a combination of interactive workshops, presentations and networking opportunities.

Faculty

Professor Richard Lewis, Professor Maree Smith, Professor Stephan Schug, Associate Professor David Scott, Dr James Sartain, Ms Helen Carmosino, Dr Bryce Clubb, Dr Kym Boon, Dr Kathleen Cooke.

This one day meeting will be followed by the 30th Combined Australian Pain Society and New Zealand Pain Society Conference titled "The Impact of Pain"
