We are pleased to announce that the 2016 Australasian Cardiovascular Nursing College Conference (ACNC2016) will be held in Melbourne between 4 & 5 March 2016. The Conference will provide delegates with an opportunity to share knowledge and understanding, examine best practice and discuss the latest developments in cardiovascular nursing. The ACNC conference is aimed at those who practice (or are training to) in the field of cardiovascular nursing in the Asia-Oceania region. It will bring together nurses, nurse educators and other interested professionals with a passion for cardiovascular nursing from throughout Australia and New Zealand and beyond.

Melbourne, Australia, is the host city for ACNC2016. Melbourne is blessed with a wide-ranging cultural life, dynamic food scene and vibrant cityscape of outstanding contemporary and federation architecture. Autumn is a lovely time of year to visit Melbourne and experience the change of seasons both in the city and regional Victoria. The social program will make the most of Melbourne's culinary expertise and will be an opportunity for delegates to come together to build networks and relationships away from the formality of Conference sessions.

We look forward to welcoming you the Melbourne in March 2016.
